Background on the Importance of Structure

John

- Wayne Meisel and COOL

- John's Student Experience

- Structural Apathy vs. Personal Apathy

Two Models.

One works.

One doesn't.

The UNIVERSITY of VERMONT

How does anyone end up with the model that doesn't work?

- Volunteer Opportunities
- Survey schools and agencies
- Organize Opportunities: filing cabinet, bulletin board, database
- Recruit students
- Follow-up

John

And now, Heather

a semi-interactive demonstration

1. We'll need a few volunteers for this.
2. Imagine you are a college student either interested in volunteering or you already volunteer. Think of the type of service activity that most interests you.
3. Type into the chat box when you're ready (or just speak if your microphone is enabled).

The Coalition of Projects Model

Heather

1. Umbrella organization of multiple projects

2. Issue or specific community focused projects

3. Group coordination of volunteers

4. Cascading leadership structure

John

5. Coalition-wide support functions for the projects

6. Systematic training of project leaders

Heather

7. Systematic exchange of challenges and best practices among projects

8. Systematic quality improvement process

9. New project incubator

Clear process and capacity to add new projects

Heather

10. Student office space to house all the projects.

Discussion and Questions

Building It Up Program

1-2 year capacity-building/organizational development program for colleges and universities that seek to build their community service programs through adopting the Coalition of Projects Model.

- Pilot program in 2012-13
- Institutional commitment
- On-site assessment/consulting
- Workshops and webinars, sessions at IMPACT
- Network with other participating institutions
- Build team of consultants/trainers
 - Training to include research/knowledge capture activities
 - Assemble/build network of programs that already have the model
